NATIONAL TRAIL

Discover Ravenscar, the town that never was

Ravenscar is a quirky village built on spectacular cliffs. During Victorian times there were big plans for the village to rival Scarborough and Whitby, until the company responsible for its development became bankrupt.

This walk is designed to be used with the Ravenscar Tracker Pack available to hire for free from the National Trust Centre at Ravenscar. Telephone the Centre on 01723 870138 for more details.

- 1 Start from the National Trust Visitor Centre and head along Station Road passing the entrance for the Raven Hall Hotel.
- 2 Turn left on Hammond Road – now a track and part of the Cleveland Way.
- 3 At the cliff edge turn right and continue along the cliff top on the Cleveland Way.
- 4 Turn right off the Cleveland Way to follow the path to Station Square, location of the Ravenscar Tea Rooms.
- 5 Turn right and head along Station Road back to the Visitor Centre.
- 6 Now head past the centre and follow the Cleveland Way down through the woods.

- 7 Take the right turn off the track signposted Cleveland Way and the Alum Works and follow this down to old Peak Alum Works site, now in the care of the National Trust.
- 8 Follow the path around the site.
- 9 Turn right and drop down and up the steps across the valley.
- 10 Cross the field and then down and back up a small gully.
- 11 Go through the gate and turn left, leaving the Cleveland Way.
- 12 Follow this path back around to where you turned off for the Alum works, then retrace your steps to Ravenscar.
